Online Reporting Tips

- Multiple changes for the same person must be reported in separate submissions.
  - DO NOT report other changes in the comments section. The comment section is only for clarifications.
  - For example: A loss of a job may require reporting change in income AND loss of employer-sponsored insurance.
- If you are reporting changes online for multiple household members, each individual member of the household should be a separate submission. It is helpful to note in the comment section that a life event was also submitted for another household member to ensure they are processed together.
- Do not use the Add a Person (Unassisted Applications) form if a household applied using the “with financial assistance” application but has an unassisted QHP (UQHP) determination. This form is ONLY for households that used the “without financial assistance” application.

- MNsure will not be able to process changes for a consumer unless at least three PII entered in the tool match what is current in their application.

- When you provide information in the “General Information” section, this is not a place to report changes, such as an address change. If you need to report an address change, call the ARC/BSL to report that and all other changes.
General Reporting Tips

- If the consumer is unsure of what is on their current application (including current income), certified assisters can call the ARC/BSL to request that information.
  - Navigators/CACs: The consumer does not need to be present during the call unless you are seeking action on the case.

- Do not proactively submit verification documents (except for a divorce decree or death certificate). If a case requires verification, a notice will be generated.
  - Only documents that have been submitted AFTER the notice date will be considered “current information” and will be reviewed.
  - MNsure checks the “pending verification” queue regularly to follow-up on cases that have been flagged for a verification.
Reporting Income Changes Tips

- When reporting an income change, use the comments section to note what is NOT changing. This is especially helpful when adding new income.

- From mid/late September (when renewal process starts) through November 30, you must report both current year AND future year projected annual income (PAI). The future year PAI should be entered in the comment section.

- Provide only the individual’s PAI – do NOT report a combined PAI for household members. Report information for one person at a time.

- If the current income and PAI do not line up, it is important to include an explanation. If there is a discrepancy, the LEC Team will assume there is an error, or the consumer is not aware of the potential financial implications.
Following Up on LECs

- If the LEC was reported by an assister and it cannot be processed based on the information submitted:
  - The assister will receive a secure email explaining what is missing and why it cannot be processed.
  - The consumer will not receive any communication.

- If we can begin processing the LEC but need additional information to complete the LEC, such as verifications:
  - The assister will receive a secure email explaining what information is needed.
  - If verifications are needed, the consumer will receive a Request for Information (RFI) notice via mail.

- If the LEC is completed:
  - The assister will receive a secure email with the result.
  - The consumer may receive a notice depending on the outcome.
Recent Examples of Issues

- The reported income and the income on the application do not match. For example, ending income not on the application or employer names not matching.
  - Solution: Call the ARC/BSL to confirm what income is currently on the application.

- Consumer did not submit the appropriate verifications, or verifications do not support the reported information.
  - Solution: Carefully review the notice and explain what proofs must be submitted, make sure they are current and sufficient.

- Projected Annual Income (PAI) for 2022 is not reported:
  - Solution: From now until November 30, enter the 2021 PAI where requested in the tool and include the 2022 PAI for the individual in the comments section.
More Recent Examples of Issues

- The reported LEC does not follow rules regarding who should be on the application and tax filing status.
  - Solution: Be sure to clarify all tax relationships and family relationships.
  - If you are unsure who should be on the application, review the list here: www.mnsure.org/new-customers/apply/with-fin-help/household-information.jsp.

- Personal identifying information (PII) on LEC doesn’t match the application.
  - Solution: If there have been recent changes, call the ARC/BSL to confirm what income is currently on the application.
  - Do not attempt to change an address, phone or email using the online tool.
